OLD IRISH WHISKY.

THE immense success which has attended the introduction of their unrivalled blend of Scotch Whisky (Old Glenlivet) has induced TREACHER & Co. to apply their long and practical knowledge of this branch of the Company's business to the production of a blend of the finest IRISH WHISKY which would meet with the approval of consumers of the article.

After lengthened experiments with the finest matured Spirits from the best known Distilleries in Ireland, the Management have succeeded in producing a blend which they confidently assert to be unequalled by any other offering in India.

It is a well-known fact that a large portion of the Whisky offered as Irish is known to the trade as "silent spirit," which is commonly distilled from refuse, such as spoiled grain, rotten potatoes, and other abominations.

TREACHER & Co. guarantee that this blend is made from pure malt spirit only, distilled from the finest grain of malt, and that it is pure, mild, and agreeable, and entirely free from essential oils and other impurities.

A GRAND EVENING CONCERT,

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

FRIDAY EVENING, DEC. 3.

THERE is still a want of life apparent in the various export markets, supplies as a rule being in excess of requirements; but exports all round are daily becoming more active, and for the time of year business is on more than an average scale. Future prospects, too, continue as encouraging as recent crop accounts being most favourable. New Cotton is beginning to arrive daily, so that it is an early as a large crop; the late rains it they did no considerable damage to the quality of the first picks. Gujrat districts, having unquestionably the quantity, whilst they were of great to the late genial crops. Money continues plentiful, and Governments Paper and Shares firm, but in Sterling Exchange there has been a slight recession, largely the result of the larger business doing, but mainly due to the information received through Reuter on 1st instant that an Indian Government loan for 3½ millions sterling had been announced in London. This is mainly regarded here as a move on the part of Government to strengthen exchange by enabling them, if need be, to restrict their drawings against home charges, and for the time being it will doubtless answer that purpose.

MONEY.—With the increased movements in produce now going forward, there is a shade more demand for money in the bazaar, but so far it has not been of sufficient extent to produce any visible effect on the general market. In the hands of the Banks the supply of cash is still very large, and as our import trade will exceed our exports for some time, the accumulation of funds is more likely to increase than diminish until about the end of the year. After that we may look for a change setting in, but in the meantime loans at call on the security of Government Paper are still obtainable at 1 per cent. per annum.

EXCHANGE.—For the first time since the beginning of August we are able to report a firmer tendency in sterling. A large business has been done during the week, and our quotations show an advance on last mail's rates of about ¾ per cent. Business opened at the level of 1s. 7 21-32d. for demand Bank Bills, and 1s. 7 27-32d. for 3 months' Credits; but an advance of 1-32d. took place on Monday, and on Tuesday a further rise of 1-16d. On Wednesday came advice of the new sterling loan, and rates were again advanced 1-16d., but although Council drafts brought an average of 1s. 7 13-16d., there has been no change since, the market having remained steady for ready bills at the following quotations:—Bank Bills on demand 1s. 7 25-32d. Telegraphic 1s. 7¾d., 3 months' 1s. 7⅞d.; Credits' 3 months' 1s. 8 1-32d.; Documents, 3 months' 1s. 8 1-16d.; Francs, 3 months' 2 11½.

For future delivery a large business has been done this week. On Wednesday, 3 months' credits were freely sold at 1s. 8⅛ for January and 1-16d. per month higher up to March, but to-day the Banks would buy at 1-32d. less, and are naming to draw for demand 1s. 7 13-16d. for January and 1-32d. per rupee per month higher up to March. At the moment, although the Banks are apparently more willing buyers than sellers forward, the tendency amongst private operators seems rather the other way, very little demand being apparent from remitters to-day. And there can be no doubt that with the change which has taken place in the position this week they have now something to go upon in anticipating higher rates. A week ago the increase in the Council drawings to 35 lacs was generally taken as an indication that the full amount of the Home charges would be drawn for, which would have necessitated a further increase before long. But the announcement of the new sterling loan is practically equivalent to an intimation that such a course will not be adopted, unless higher rates of exchange are obtainable. Silver, too, seems likely to be a strengthening influence. Reuter says that the French, American, and German Governments are at present interchanging views regarding their holdings of the metal. This may or may not lead to anything, but in the meantime the value is being supported steadily at ¼ to ⅜ per cent. above exchange—some people think by a demand for the Continent—the quotation from London this morning being 51 15-16d. per oz., equivalent to fully 1s. 7 15-16d. per rupee. These various points, taken in conjunction with the certainty we have of an active export season, are all in favour, if not of much higher rates, at all events of greater firmness.

On Calcutta, the rate for demand drafts is 1-16 per cent. discount to par, but for 60 days' sight it is impossible to give a quotation, there being no sellers. On China, we quote 60 days' sight Mercantile Bills at Rs. 219 per 100 dollars.

From Hongkong, the latest quotation by wire for 4 months' sight Bank Bills on London is 3s. 8⅛d. per dollar, and from Shanghai 5s. 1¼d. per tael.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.—On Saturday and Monday rates were firm with good buyers, but on Tuesday a weaker feeling was apparent, and Fours receded to Rs. 98⅜, Fours-and-a-half to Rs. 107½. On Wednesday, however, the news of the sterling loan gave a decided start to the market, and rates at once advanced to Rs. 99 for Fours and Rs. 108 for Fours-and-a-half. A very large business was done up to this level, and since then values have remained steady without material change.

SHARES.—The market has been subject to considerable fluctuations this week, and the result has been somewhat irregular, although in the majority of cases the turn is in favour of sellers. In Bank shares there is practically no change to notice. Bank of Bombays at one time declined ¼ per cent., but have since recovered to Rs. 723½. Agras remain at Rs. 135, Nationals at Rs. 106. In Land Companies we quote a decline of Rs. 2 in Port Cunnings, but Colabas have been firm throughout at an advance of Rs. 25 on the week. Press shares are still in good demand. We quote an advance of Rs. 50 in Apollo, and Sind and Punjaub, and Rs. 25 in Akbar and Fort. Berars, East India, and New Indian are Rs. 5 lower. Mofussils after frequent fluctuations are the same as a week ago. In Spinning and Weaving Mill shares, the advance in Cotton during the early part of the week brought out speculators for a fall, and in most cases a material drop was established; but latterly buyers have again come to the front, and a partial recovery has been established. Our quotations show a decline during the week of Rs. 100 in Bhownuggur Mills, Rs. 50 in Albert, Rs. 30 in Alfred, Rs. 25 in Alliance, and Madras United, Rs. 20 in Jewraz Balloo and Prince of Wales, Rs. 15 in Coorla and Sholapore, Rs. 10 in Morarjee Goculdas, and Rs. 2 in Anglo-Indian. There is an advance of Rs. 60 in Empress, Rs. 40 in Dhurrumsey, Rs. 20 in Khutao Mucconjee, Manockjee Petit, and Western India, Rs. 25 in Bombay United, Rs. 15 in Victoria, Rs. 10 in Mazagon, and Rs. 5 in Hindustan and New Great Eastern. The Yarn market is dull both here and in China, otherwise the position of prices would probably have been more in holders' favour. Amongst Miscellaneous Companies the only movements to notice are, a decline of Rs. 30 in Bombay Saw Mills, and an advance of Rs. 10 in Treacher and Company, Limited.

PIECE-GOODS.—Notwithstanding the firmness of home advices, the market has continued comparatively quiet. There has perhaps been rather more disposition evinced to do business on the part of up-country buyers, but this has been partially checked by an attempt on the part of sellers to obtain an advance of As. ½ to As. 1 per piece. The clearances for the week are only estimated at about 3,000 packages of all kinds from the bazzar, and from first hands there has not been much doing, the improvement in exchange so far having been insufficient to equalise our prices with Manchester quotations. Supplies both on the spot and to arrive are still considerably in excess of actual requirements, and until an alteration takes place in this respect we can scarcely hope for any material improvement in values We have a fair consumption going on, and even a larger scale of absorption in prospect, but so long as shipments from home are in excess, it is hopeless to look for values showing a margin on Manchester.

In Local made goods the clearances this week have been about 1,800 packages at an average of As. 8⅞ to As. 8¾ per lb.

TWIST.—For English Yarns it is impossible to quote any improvement in the demand. Tempted by the advance at home, dealers have been offering slightly better than previous rates, but still below Manchester prices, and very little business has resulted; nor can we practically alter quotations. In Local Yarns the business of the week has been about 1,400 packages, at As. 7 5-16 to As. 7 9-16 per lb. for 20s.

METALS.—Copper.—Transactions have been limited, and prices are quite unchanged on the week. Stocks have accumulated somewhat of late, and the feeling at the close is dull. Of Yellow Metal the same may be said. Some small sales have been made to arrive, but on the spot there has not been much doing. Iron is quiet with only a small business doing at previous prices. Stocks are liberal.

COALS.—On the whole the market has been fairly firm. There are buyers at Rs. 16½ per ton alongside for both Cardiff and Davison's West Hartley distant shipment, but sellers hold out for Rs. 17, and no business of importance has resulted. A cargo of Davison's, ex Amyone, has been sold at Rs. 17 on the bunder, and about 1,100 tons, to arrive, per W. D. Lawrence, via Cape, at the same price.

COTTON.—We have had active markets with considerable fluctuations in prices this week. To begin with the tenor of the Liverpool and New York news induced strong speculative buying, and for a day or two large purchases were made chiefly in New Hingunghaut and Broach, the former touching Rs. 255 and the latter Rs. 250 per candy. A reaction then ensued, and yesterday Broach was sold in quantity at Rs. 239, but to-day it has recovered again to Rs. 242, and it is said that even Rs. 244 has been done. On the whole, the movements of the week have resulted in an advance of Rs. 2 per candy in Old Cotton, whilst in New Crop, Broach may be quoted Rs. 2 lower, Hingunghaut Rs. 3 higher, and Omras Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per candy lower. The transactions nominally for export since the departure of last mail make up a total of about 15,000 bales, but in reality the greater proportion of this has been pure speculation on local fluctuations. Nor could we it expect otherwise with [illegible] a rule above Rs. 250 to Rs. 255 per candy [illegible]

[illegible] Cotton [illegible] up country since the [illegible] commencement with the two principal [illegible]

[illegible]	1880	1879	1878

The Clearance for 3[illegible] the departure of last mail have been 12,720 bales making total since 1st January of 1,029,080 bales against 854,080 bales for the corresponding period last year.

New Crop.—Arrivals of Hinguncham are now coming to hand daily, and it is satisfactory to see that almost every fresh lot shows an improvement in quality. Of this description the yield promises to be the largest we have had for years, and should no more rain fall, the quality will probably show a great improvement during the next few weeks. Of Omras the quantity coming to hand as yet is limited, nor can much be said for the appearance of what we have received so far, F. G. F. being about the best obtaintable in class. Larger arrivals will come in during the next week, after that the Mohurrum holidays will again restrict supplies for a fortnight, and no bulk of Cotton will really come on to this market before January. Afterwards, however, arrivals should be free, and probably rather better in quality, although so far up-country agents show a much stronger desire to place F. G. F. and G. F. than Good. It is satisfactory, however, to find that the staple is very promising whatever the class may be. Of Broach, reports have perhaps not been quite so flourishing of late, but there can be little doubt that we shall have a large yield, and of Dhollera also the out-turn will be over last year. Taking it all round we should say the probable exports of the first six months of the year may be safely put at 800,000 to 850,000 bales.

The following are to-day's quotations for Full-pressed Cotton with the equivalents in Sterling, Cost, and Freight to Liverpool, via Canal, without Commission:—

SEEDS.—Linseed.—A large business has again been done this week at slightly easier rates, to-day's closing quotations being Rs. 6-12 ready, Rs. 6-7 per cwt. May delivery. Arrivals of old stuff are fairly liberal and the New Crop promises well. In Rapeseed business has been done in New Guzerat at Rs. 6 per cwt. for May delivery, and sellers are now strong at that figure. Gingelly is not arriving yet in very large quantities, although supplies are undoubtedly increasing every day. We quote:—Mixed Rs. 38 to Rs. 39, White Rs. 40 to Rs. 41, Red Rs. 36 to Rs. 38, being a partial decline of As. 8 per candy.

WHEAT has been quieter of late, and prices have receded Re. 1 per candy on the week. Sellers, however, being well under contract are not pressing sales, although arrivals are free. The growing Crop promises to be large. We quote for ready Soft White Rs. 33 per candy.

TELEGRAMS.

THE VICEROY AT POONA.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, DEC. 3.

At half past ten o'clock this morning the Viceroy received at Government House, Ganesh Khind, a deputation of the Poona Sarvajanik Sabha, consisting of sirdars, landholders, sowcars, and other representatives of the people of the Deccan. The deputation presented an address, stating that they heartily embraced the opportunity to welcome his Lordship's visit to the capital of the Maharastra, and to testify their loyalty and pay their respects to the representative of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress. At the recent grand durbar held at Lahore the Viceroy had said he would endeavour to walk in the footsteps of Lord Lawrence and apply his principles, and this assurance had given universal satisfaction. The name of that illustrious statesman has been especially associated with the policy of non-intervention in the affairs of Independent States, and his Lordship's declaration to adhere thoroughly to those principles the deputation considered an earnest of the peaceful intentions of the Government in England and India. Masterly inactivity abroad meant masterly activity at home, and the deputation hailed with delight the cessation of hostilities with Afghanistan and renewed peace, enabling the Government to attend to domestic reforms of importance conducive to the moral and material prosperity of India. The Viceroy, in his Punjab tour, had stated that the Queen had commanded him to look specially after municipal institutions in India, as there only could natives be trained in the art of self-government, and Poona hoped accordingly to enjoy the privilege of the elective franchise. The Sabah learnt with great satisfaction that the Viceroy was an advocate of higher education, both Western and Oriental, which can alone effect a fusion of the various races and nationalities in India, and the fusion of the races is politically a sine qua non of national regeneration. The Sabha always held high-class English education as having a most effective civilising influence in India, and hoped the Government would follow the policy initiated by Lord Metcalfe, Lord Macaulay, and others, which was confirmed in the great Educational Despatch of 1854. The deputation hoped that, in accordance with His Excellency's advice recently tendered, the rulers of Native States would consider the happiness of their subjects in preference to the brilliancy of their courts and the power and perfection of their armies. The Sabha was also thankful that the Viceroy had directed the relaxation of the provisions of the Arms Act and the granting of free licenses to agriculturists most exposed to the attacks of wild animals. They hoped in time for the repeal of the Act, as its existence on the Statute Book is a slur on the loyalty of the people of India.

The Viceroy, in reply, begged to thank the deputation for their address, and to assure them that it was a great satisfaction to him to have been able, under the auspices of the Governor of Bombay, to visit the capital of the Deccan and make himself, to some extent, acquainted with the interesting city of Poona. He was glad to find from the address that various remarks of his, made since coming to India, commended themselves to the Sabha. He would not detain them longer than to remark upon two points in the address. In the first place he noted with satisfaction that speaking of higher education the Sabha was entirely alive to the importance of its spread throughout the country. But what gave him especial pleasure was the allusion to the despatch of 1854. He had always looked upon it as the charter of Indian education, and he would proceed on the lines of that despatch, applying the principles therein contained, suitably to the changing circumstances of advancing times. The deputation had also spoken of his remarks at the durbar at Lahore, regarding his desire to imitate the policy of Lord Lawrence. It was hardly necessary to say that the policy of the Government of the Queen-Empress was founded firmly and unhesitatingly on the principles laid down in Lord Canning's proclamation, and the sunnuds consequent thereupon, confirming the native chiefs in their power and dominions, were not only a great advantage to the chief themselves, but, at the same time, the peace which English rule had established throughout this country rendered it necessary we should see that those dwelling under its shade were not oppressed. His Excellency did not think that the Viceroy of India ought to be given much to speaking, and he would say no more. He would prefer that when his term of office expired people should say he did more than he talked. He would conclude by saying that what India wanted at present was peace and rest to devote herself to the industrial and commercial. The Government would, of course, take considerable part in the development of the country's resources, but it was also necessary that the people should assist Government, and by that means themselves promote the interests of this great Empire.

The deputation was headed by Rai Bahadoor Krishnaji Luxumon Nullkar, and was composed, among others, of the following :—Chintaman Wishwanath, Nathu Trimbuck, Rao Narayen Rao Machikar, Madhv Rao Yeshwant Raste, Gungaram Bhao Mhaske, Dorabjee Dadabhoy Bootee, Framjee Dorabjee Hari Rowjee, and Koopuswamy Vizaya rungam.

At 11 a. m. the Viceroy and party left Gunesh Khind, entering Poona city by Lakdi Pul. The whole route up to the Budhwar Palace site was decorated with plantain-stalks and flags and crowded with spectators. The Viceroy, on arriving at the Budhwar site, alighted from his carriage and passed into a pendal erected for the occasion. He took his seat on a dais therein, which was also occupied by the following gentlemen :—Sir James Fergusson, Colonel Stracey, Mr. Primrose, Mr. E. P. Robertson, Mr. J. G. Moore, Major Ducat, R. E., Mr. Forrest, Dr. Keilhorn, Mr. A. H. Plunkett, Major White, Captain Fergusson, Dr. Waters, and Captain Barrington Foote. The Khunderao deputation was headed by Rao Bahadur Vishwanath Raste, who read on behalf of the Municipality and citizens of Poona the following address :—We the undersigned municipal commissioners and citizens of Poona, desire to express our gratification at the honour which you have conferred upon us by visiting the capital of the Deccan, and to offer your Excellency a warm and hearty welcome. We are proud your Excellency has found time, amidst your arduous duties, to come among us, and we can assure you that by doing you have strengthened the bond of connection between your Lordship [illegible] representative of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen-Empress of India and us, her faithful and loyal subjects. The city of Poona is poor in commercial resources, but it is rich in historical associations, as having been once the centre of the Mahratta Power and splendour, and although your stay here will be brief, we trust your Excellency may carry away a favourable impression of what you may see.

The Viceroy, in reply, thanked the people of Poona for the warm reception he had been accorded, and stated that every letter from the Queen enjoined him to look carefully to the interests of Her Indian subjects. He was grateful to Sir James Fergusson for having afforded him the means of meeting the deputation upon this occasion. His Excellency had passed of late through many parts of India, and received at the hands of the various races much kindness and cordial welcome ; and for that welcome he begged to tender his hearty thanks, and to assure them that he would always retain a lively recollection of their kindness and deep interest in their prosperity.

The police arrangements at the Budhwar site were execrable ; the whole scene was disorderly and in possession of a tumultuous mob, and the Viceroy's remarks were consequently almost inaudible. In the way of shamianas and floral decorations, however, nothing was left to be desired.

After receiving the address His Excellency immediately drove to the Poona station. The Poona railway station presented a mass of flags, shields, and festoons of evergreens and flowers, the main entrance greeting His Excellency with the device, "Long live the Viceroy." His Excellency remained half-an-hour on the platform previous to entering his train. He left at 1 o'clock, Bombay time, while a royal salute was booming its guns. The arrangements of troops was the same as for His Excellency's reception.

Yesterday morning he read the Viceroy's answer in public durbar. It grants the request, and assures him he will be treated as an honoured guest. THE Poona detachment of our Volunteer Corps followed the example of their Bombay comrades, and turned out in strength in honour of the Viceroy's arrival. The guard of honour of Volunteers at Kirkee station on Thursday was 90 strong, which, considering that not more than 110 of the two Poona companies are now there—several of the members being district officials, who have to be out in the districts at this season—was very good.

WE hear that a score of 50 points was made the other day by Volunteer Cahill, of H Company, Kirkee, for the Simla Volunteers' Contest.

THE celebrated billiard-players, John Roberts Jr. and W. Cook, are on their way out in the Anchor Line s. s. India, which has passed through the Suez Canel, and should arrive here about the 15th instant. Messrs Cook and Roberts will play their first game after landing in Bombay.

WHILE a salute was being fired by the 15-8th R. A. at Simla in honour of the Raja of Suket, on November 19th, two gunners were wounded by a premature discharge, which blew away the rammer. One of the men has since died.

TWO young ladies from the Girls' High School, Allahabad, are among the candidates for the Entrance examination of the Calcutta University, who are being examined in the Muir Central College. A separate examination room, a Calcutta paper states, has been provided for these ladies.

THE statement made by some newspapers that it has been resolved to introduce the Rent Bill into the Supreme Council is said by the Statesman to be incorrect. The Government of India has not yet come to any decision on the subject ; while the Legal Member is believed to be opposed to the course recommended by the Government of Bengal. Mr. Reynolds, as we have already intimated, has been commissioned by the Government of Bengal to make local inquiries in reference to the Bill.

SIR GEORGE COUPER, the Delhi paper says, has called upon the proprietors of the breweries of Upper India to state their views upon the proposal to exact an excise duty upon all the beer they brew.

THE Lahore paper hears from Kurrachee that a Bombay officer, Major C. A. Cunningham, has been ordered to Kandahar as Assistant Adjutant-General.

REGARDING the Gilgit disturbances, the Civil and Military Gazette states that no authentic information has reached Government as to the reported dispersion of the Yassinis, but there is little doubt of Major Biddulph being able to hold his own.

IN connection with the movement in support of the Patriotic Fund about to be initiated at Allahabad, the Pioneer states that about 3½ lakhs of rupees have been placed at the disposal of the Central Committee, not reckoning the sums received by the Bombay or any local committees, from which no report has hitherto been received, nor certain large donations from one or two native princes which have been mentioned in the newspapers, but of which no official report has yet been received.

THE appointment of Mr. Donald MacNabb to succeed Sir R. Sandeman as Governor-General's Agent for Beluchistan the Lahore paper regards as one of those signs of a change of policy which tell us of retreat and renunciation in all directions. "It is, we believe, a tolerably well-known secret of the Foreign Office that Mr. Griffin was only sent to Kabul after Mr. MacNabb had positively refused to go there, so strong was the antipathy of the latter to any régime which savoured of Imperialism. His refusal is all in his favour now. Mr. Gladstone wants instruments to break down every species of work ever effected by a Conservative Government ; and Mr. MacNabb will do his bidding with a will."

ON the question of the abolition of the Press Commissionership the Indian Mirror, of Calcutta, writes :—"The only accredited Government official is to be removed, who was bound to receive courteously every native writer, however humble, and every native gentlemen who chose to see him on public business, whose kindness and openness of manners suggested pleasant thoughts of the Government, who had appointed him as an intercessor between themselves and the public. And henceforth we must either sit in ignorance of every Government affair likely to interest us and our readers, or have recourse to clerks and assistants, as in times gone by, who purloin official information to dilute it with their own fancy, and retail it to their utmost personal advantage. We believe we have some right to ask that if we are going to be deprived of the benefit of the Press Commissioner's office, what measures would Lord Ripon take to recompense us for our loss ? We hope it will be the abolition of the Vernacular Press Act, and the distribution of official intelligence from the Secretariat."

THAT the policy of the Government in connexion with Afghanistan is not held in such high estimation by people at home as are the exploits of some of our generals,—notably, of course, Sir Frederick Roberts,—the Civil and Military Gazette thinks is apparent from the entire absence of excitement which has marked the arrival in England of Mr. Lepel Griffin. "Our victorious General was enthusiastically welcomed, and Reuter telegraphed the fact as a news item. [illegible] has since informed us of his appointment to the Grand Cross of the Bath, of [illegible]s prepared for him, and the honours conferred upon him. Whereas of our political officer a line in the paper tells us that 'Mr. Lepel Griffin has arrived in England, and will remain until February.' Had the English public satisfied itself as to the permanency of the present Amir's tenure of office ; had it been convinced that our objects in the war had been attained, English prestige advanced, and our determination to have a restraining, if not a guiding, hand in Afghan affairs asserted, it is impossible to conceive that Mr. Griffin would have been allowed to return to England without some manifestations of his country's gratitude. The Star of the K. C. S. I., which seemed to glitter out as the rocket ascended, vanished in mid-air, and is invisible as the stick descends."

PERHAPS the best solution of the difficulty as to who is to make a railway between the Sind, Punjab, and Delhi Railway and Hardwar would be, remarks the Englishman, to allow the Oudh and Rohilkand Railway Company to go westwards only as far as Rurki, and to give to the proposed Dehra Dun Railway Company concession for a broad-gauge railway from Saharanpur through Rurki, Hardwar, and then on to Dehra and Rajpur, the Oudh Company to have running powers at all times to Saharanpur, and during fair time only to Hardwar. The Sind, Punjab, and Dehli Railway Company also might have running powers, during fair time only, to Hardwar. A concession to the Dun Company of the sections from Saharanpur to Hardwar would ensure the raising of the capital for the whole line to Rajpur, while the accommodation of the Oudh and Rohilkand Company's traffic would be perfectly provided for.

THE Lahore paper gives the following further particulars about the opening of the Western Rajputana Railway :—"There will be a great gathering at Erinpura on the 1st January next to celebrate the opening of the Rajputana line of railway through to Ahmedabad. The Governor of Bombay, Sir James Fergusson, will be the guest of Colonel Bradford, Governor-General's Agent for Rajputana, who will go from Ajmere to meet the Governor at Erinpura. The opening of the new line will bring us our overland mails twenty-four hours earlier than at present ; the mail trains from Bombay will run through to Delhi by this line in 47 hours, catching the up mail trains of the S. P. and D. Railway. The speed is, we hear, to be fixed at 25 miles an hour, including stoppages. But for the break of gauge at Ahmedabad, and the consequent changing of carriages there at 2 a. m., the new line would be an immense boon to all travellers between Bombay and the Punjab. Even as it is, a great increase of traffic may be expected, and it is to be hoped that early steps may be taken to procure an adequate supply of rolling-stock on the Rajputana State Railway, at present lamentably deficient in this important item of necessaries."

IN an article on "judicial incapacity" the Indian Mirror calls attention to an extraordinary case. On the 28th January last a burglary was committed in the house of the Thakore of Karoli, and Abdul Hakim, chief constable of the district, was deputed to inquire into the matter. In the course of his investigations this guardian and preserver of the peace visited a camp of gipsies at Dayanatpore. A search of the camp revealed nothing whatever to connect the gipsies with the robbery, but the chief constable did not intend to take so much trouble for nothing, so demanded a contribution from them to increase the weight of his purse. The gipsy-treasury happened to be at a low ebb, and all he could get out of them was Rs. 2-4. He demanded that the amount should be made up to Rs. 5, and because this was not done he ordered one of the gang to be bound and removed in custody. The gipsies were not willing to submit to this, and advanced in a body, armed with sticks, to release their comrade, whereupon the chief constable raised a double-barrelled gun which he carried loaded in his hand, and shot a man dead. He then made an attempt to escape, but was overtaken and brought back to the camp. Sub-Inspector Abdul Kadir, of the thanah to which Chief Constable Abdul Hakim was attached, now came upon the scene, and by administering a bribe of Rs. 125, he induced the gipsies to burn up the dead body of their comrade, and to give up the gun which had caused his death. The most remarkable part of the story is as to what happened subsequently. Somehow or other the case came before the courts, and the magistrate to whom it was first taken committed the chief constable to the Mirut sessions. The result of the trial at the sessions was that the prisoner was discharged ! The judge's decision was so utterly absurd that the Government appealed to the Allahabad High Court, where Justices Pearson and Douglas Straight found as follows :—"Looking at all the facts, as disclosed in the records of the Magistrate and Sessions Court, we are of opinion that the acquittal of Abdul Hakim was a grave miscarriage of justice, and that this appeal by Government must prevail. The act of the respondent is entitled to no such justification, excuse, or protection as can remove it from the category of culpable homicide amounting to murder. To fire a gun at the distance of five paces at a number of persons, holding it in such a way that one of them is mortally wounded in the heart, is to do a thing so imminently dangerous that the person doing it must have known that he would probably cause death or such bodily injury as would be likely to cause death. According to the respondent's statement the shooting of Bandhu was accidental, and he had simply intended to fire off the gun over the heads of the gipsies for the purpose of frightening them, but his hand trembled, and the shot miscarried. This defence, however, is altogether disbelieved by the Sessions Judge, and so far we may say we entirely concur with him." On the point of police morality involved in the case the High Court finds :—"The case is one of very grave public importance, and while we are fully sensible of the necessity for affording the fullest protection to police officers in the discharge of their duty, it is equally incumbent on us to take care that the public are protected from extortion and violence at their hands. Money presents to the police of the kind mentioned in this case are only made under threats and compulsion, and are grossly irregular and improper. Their unavoidable accompaniments are violence and coercion, and their inevitable consequences most injurious to the interests of justice."

THE general belief that the Government will be in a position to make a determined effort to settle the Irish land question next session, remarks the Pall Mall, will be confirmed by the announcement that the Irish Land Commissioners have terminated their inquiries in the provinces. The inquiry concluded at Clonmel on the 8th November. There was by no means a concurrence of opinion as regards peasant proprietary except in gradual and tentative form, and with this view an extension of the Bright clauses was frequently suggested. There was no lack of evidence tendered in spite of the opposition of the Land League. The inquiry appears to have established the existence of a general agreement that something must be done. What that something should be Ministers, with the evidence collected by the Commission before them, will be in almost as good a position to decide as the Commissioners themselves.

BICYCLING.

"Sublime on radiant spheres he rode."

WHEN Dryden, in that grand ode of his, composed this line, he must, in his mind's eye, have had dimly shadowed a picture of one of the Coventry Machinists Company's nickel-plated machines, with its rider devouring space ; and now that his prophecy has come to pass, and walking is on its last legs and cyclists are enabled to do one hundred miles with not much more exertion than it used to take them to walk ten, it may interest your learned and accomplished readers who are bicyclists, those who are not, and, perhaps, those who do not want to know, that the other evening at 5 three amateurs made up their minds to start from the Dadur station for a run to Tanna, and being held up by the determination "to do or die," felt that nothing should stay their onward course to their destination, except a storm-wave or an earthquake or a cyclone. After a critical examination of their respective machines, and finding everything in good order, they flung themselves into their saddles, and were away, doing an honest ten miles an hour, in spite of an execrable road thence to Sion. Beyond this the road may be considered certainly a good one up to the dispensary beyond Coorla. From here to ghaut ka uper, about eight miles from Dadur, the running was pretty easy, the road being very good, except for the presence of loose metal, which caused a great deal of plunging and bumping to be undergone. About this part a sad mishap occurred to one of the riders, who, in his endeavours to keep up with his companions, and having foolishly left his lamp at home, like one of the five virgins, canonned with considerable force against a hay-cart, which had the effect of stopping his career and landing him safely by the roadside. This led to a pugilistic encounter with the driver, who, being helped by a few others, made a general onslaught on the benighted traveller, who fared badly, and eventually scattered in different directions, leaving our hero miles behind his two friends, who being under the impression that he was still following, did not discover his absence for some time afterwards. On doing so, however, they stopped and made the welkin ring with their cries. These were answered by the mournful wailing of a pack of jackals, and then—only then—did his friends know that he must have "fallen from his high estate" and been devoured. Feeling powerless to help him, and knowing that assistance of any kind would be of no avail, they mournfully held on their way, and arrived at the travellers' bungalow at Tanna at 6-55 p.m., just under two hours, where they were courteously received by the aged messman, and all their wants were well supplied. It appears that this old man, over whose hoary head the rains of ninety-five monsoons have beaten in vain, was at the battle of Corrygaum, the taking of Poona, the first Afghan campaign, and a few other picnics, and although he served Government all that time in some regimental capacity, he is still in no receipt of a pension. Surely something ought to be done for him in this respect, so that his grey hairs may go down with pleasure to the grave. However, this has nothing to do with our two adventurers, who, after resting for an hour-and-a-half, took a run over the bridge that spans the Tanna creek, returned again to the bungalow, and after an affectionate farewell of the aged servitor there, whose dimmed eyes lighted up with a heavenly smile at the liberality of which he was the lucky recipient, again flung themselves into their saddles, and turned their bicycles towards home. This was at 9-15 p.m., the air was cool, almost keen ; and the brilliant moonlight, which shed its mild effulgence over everything, materially helped them on their return to Dadur, where, after innumerable stoppages owing to the hay-carts being scattered all over the road at intervals, their drivers asleep or intoxicated, they arrived in 2 hours and 20 minutes, exhausted rather, but smiling to the last, and doubly welcome was the glass of iced water and the cigarette with which they regaled themselves. The fate of the erring friend was rather a sad one. It turned out that he had not been devoured by jackals : for after consoling himself with a "trichey" and a little blasphemy at being left behind so unceremoniously, he determined to return home, where he knew all would be forgiven. Unfortunately, while going through Coorla, one of the high-caste pariahs for which every gaum in India is famous, while lying cosily in the middle of the road felt so secure under the circumstances that he evidently fell into a peaceful dose, and although shouted at by the dust-stained traveller as soon as seen, did not attempt to move. The consequence was another heavy cropper, but luckily without any injury to the rider, except a few bruises. The dog, however, shortly afterwards yielded up the ghost, owing to a general break-up of his system. Again mounting, the demoralised rider, reeling in his tracks, arrived at his home in Byculla, and was just able to murmur, "Soda and whiskey do," when he fell fainting on the hearth-rug, and was carried off to his couch, convulsively working his legs backwards and forwards, showing that the ruling passion was strong even under such distressing circumstances. The distance covered by the other two may be safely put down at forty-two miles ; and as this was done, as before stated, in 5 hours and 55 minutes, with an interval of an hour-and-a-half for rest, it may be considered a fair performance for Bombay, although in England it would be thought nothing of. When one remembers how seldom the amateur has a chance of riding in this climate, except at nights and in the early mornings or evenings, owing to the overpowering presence of "that indecent sun," as Byron puts it, it shows how much can be done by a little practice on the bicycle. The ride was altogether a very delightful one owing to the coolness of the air and the bright moonlight. This, coupled with the perfume of sun-burnt grass floating from the fields and the very pretty appearance of the country on either side of the road, covered as it is to so great an extent with trees of all kinds and brushwood, made up a total of pleasurable sensations which, when done on a bicycle spinning along from ten to fourteen miles an hour, is irresistibly charming to the performer. No one who has not bicycled can form an adequate conception of the exhilaration induced by the exercise, and of the feeling that beneath one is an invention with wonderful capabilities for carrying its rider at a high speed with but little exertion. In conclusion, the writer's advice to those who are about to become bicyclists is, "Do—by all means." Q.—Q.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

BYRON'S famous comedy, "Our Boys," which had such an unprecedented run in London, was presented at the Gaiety with considerable success on Thursday evening. The general character of the piece is so well-known that it is unnecessary to give an outline of the plot, and its dramatic excellence is clearly shown by the popularity which it enjoys. The Gaiety company did not allow Byron's charming play to suffer at their hands, and we could wish that there had been a larger house to witness their performance. Sir Geoffery Champneys, the old aristocrat, was admirably represented by Mr. George Crofton, who had evidently studied the character very carefully. Mr. John Turner, as Perkyn Middlewick, the retired butterman, was irresistibly comic, and his acting was not in the least overstrained. His was a really clever impersonation of the warm-hearted and generous, though somewhat vulgar tradesman, and he carried the audience with him throughout. Perhaps the weakest part of the performance was that of "Our Boys" themselves, although it must be admitted that these are the most difficult characters to represent. In some of the situations it was apparent that Charles Middlewick and Talbot Champneys were not altogether what Mr. Byron intended them to be ; in the latter part of the piece, however, there was little to be desired. Miss Emily Blain gracefully and truthfully represented Violet Melrose, whilst Miss Edith Wilson, as Mary Melrose, played her part with fidelity and with charming vivacity. Mrs. Norville was equally at home in the characters of Miss Clarissa Champneys and Belinda (maid of all work), the latter especially being "to the life." Altogether "Our Boys" was admirably performed by the Gaiety company.

THE STATE OF MUDHOL.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

MUDHOL is an independent Native State, but for the last fifteen years it has been under the direct management of the British Government, the present Raja, Venkatrao Saheb Ghrepade, being a minor. It is under the Kolhapur and Southern Mahratta country agency. Colonel W. C. Parr is the present Political Agent, Kol. and S. M. C., and Colonel T. M. Baumgartner is his Assistant for the Southern Mahratta country. The Government has appointed a Karbhari here, who exercises his authority in all except the Judicial, Public Works, and Educational Departments, the latter being in the charge of the Nyayadhish. Though the revenue of this State is small—only about Rs 1,50,000—it has reason to be proud of having all its departments working efficiently, the new characteristic feature in the administration of this State.

Our Raja, who is now twenty years of age, resides at Kolhapur for the purpose of pursuing his studies in the Rajaram College, newly established there. Before this time he was studying in the Rajaram College, at Rajkot. He has a great taste for learning, and is now ready for the Entrance examination. He applies some of his time to photography also. Besides this he is an excellent horseman, and was the first of all the Sirdars in winning one of the races recently held at Kolhapur. Such being the promise of his youth, the inhabitants of this station are very earnestly longing for the time when he will independently be able to hold the reins of the State. It is generally announced that he will be established on the gadee within a year or so.

The Raja made his appearance in this town on the 10th instant, when he was very cordially and loyally welcomed by his subjects. We entertained hopes in staying here for a fortnight at least, but were utterly disappointed when we heard that he was obliged to return soon, as news of his only son's illness at Kolhapur reached him while he was on a hunt in the surrounding villages. The following day he started by special tonga for Kolhapur, and compassed a journey of about 100 miles in 24 hours day and night, only to find that his child had died a little before his arrival. The child was only seven months old. The Raja is again expected here towards the close of this month.

The native paper at Kolhapur announces that some dacoities have taken place in the Kolhapur ilakha, and that some of them have been detected, and the offenders are under trial. The originator of these dacoities is said to be an imposter, giving out to be Chimasaheb Maharaj, one of the late Rajas of Kolhapur. No such disturbances exist in this part.

The Examiner of the Post Office Accounts and the Superintendent of P. O., S. M. country, were here some days ago on their tour, and proceeded after a stay of two days. Other Government officers of every department will probably visit this place during the ensuing two months.

The weather in these days is happily cool, and the crops are in a satisfactory condition. Prices are low, and everywhere things are going on very smoothly.

BARODA.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

NOV. 29.

H. E. THE DEWAN recently invited the gentry—the selected ones—to hear him lecture on "The Telescope," and all accepted the call. But I do not think the Khans Barodaites of the old school were largely represented amongst the audience. A friend of mine acquainted me that he had once before heard a lecture on the telescope, and it was equivalent to meeting an old friend. But to hear the Dewan speak was really interesting, and all were amply repaid for the trip taken to hear the subject so ably delineated.

The Dewan Sahib will, I believe, avail himself of the three months' leave I mentioned in one of my letters not long ago on or about the 4th proximo. The district officiating for him will, as usual, devolve on Mr. Kaji Shaboodeen, the Sir Sooba Revenue Commissioner. We all earnestly hope that the Dewan's forthcoming trip to his native country will prove beneficial to his health, and that he will return to resume his office in a thoroughly re-established condition.

Within the last few months about half-a-dozen soucars have become insolvent, the liabilities of the majority being between 25,000 to 5,000, but on Hurreelall Kaleedass sustained a loss of about Rs. 2,00,000. The money-market, therefore, is dull, confidence amongst the soucars not being restored yet.

Rules for the better preservation of game are brought in force since the 15th July last. A shikarree without a pass either from the Residency or the Sir Sooba must consider his gun a useless encumbrance.

PENSIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I don't know if the Viceroy reads the Bombay papers when he is in Bengal, but I trust you will insert this on the chance of its catching his eye. The subject has been discussed ad nauseam, but the authorities, who have good pensions themselves, don't care about others. Lord Ripon is conscientious, and may give heed to our prayer. Our chief complaint is the great inequality in pension rules. A chaplain who has passed the B. A. without any honours gets a pension, if invalided, after a month's residence. Mr. Wordsworth, who took a first class, gets nothing after fourteen years' exile. When rules are of this kind it is evident that some change should be made. No class of men has less work than chaplains, and yet they get all the loaves and fishes. If nothing else is done, the option of half-pension after half the time now required should be granted to those who wish to give up fair salaries.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION IN THE FIFTH WARD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I did not consider it worth my while to take any notice of the comments made by some of the vernacular papers on my election as a member of the Municipal Corporation by the ratepayers of the fifth ward, and wished to treat them with the silent contempt they deserve. As, however, the comments of the Indu Prakash have been allowed a space in your issue of yesterday, I deem it due to myself notwithstanding the way in which you have inserted them, to address these lines to you for the information of the public, for whose opinion I entertain the highest regard. The Indu Prakash appears to be quite inconsistent in his remarks. In one place he says : "For one thing it is, no doubt, an encouraging feature of the times that there is on all sides a praiseworthy desire to get into the Corporation and serve the public ;" while in another place, because I thought it proper to come forward as a candidate, and have been elected, without waiting to see how I perform my duties, he prejudges my qualifications and condemns my election simply for the reason that other candidates, who have been in the Corporation before, have been displaced. He also charges me with having endeavoured to secure the support of the ratepayers, but I do not know why he should blame me for having so acted when all the candidates, whether natives or Europeans, who were in the field have followed the same course—a course which is adopted everywhere.

The Indu Prakash declares me incompetent because, he says, I am young and inexperienced, but he has evidently not taken the trouble to inquire into facts before making his uncalled-for remarks. My present age is much more than that prescribed by law as the age of maturity at which persons are declared capable of assuming charge of estates and administrations. As regards experience of municipal matters, it is evident that no one can be supposed to have acquired any until he becomes a member of the Municipality and performs his duties for some time. The Indu Prakash cannot, however, say with truth that I am devoid of general experience. Owing to the most unfortunate continued indisposition of my respected father, I have had for some time to take a considerable share in the management of his affairs, and I cannot have done so without improving my knowledge of the world. The fact of our holding extensive landed property in Bombay, and paying about rupees seven thousand a year in the shape of municipal rates and taxes, is another and a very strong circumstance why I should take part in the municipal management of our city. The very language of the Indu Prakash shows the animus which has actuated him in making the comments, and which is sufficient to make them undeserving of any notice.

The Elms, North Cheam, Surrey, S., 4th March 1875.

"SIR,—I had been suffering from rheumatism for several years, together with scorbutic eruption of the skin, of a local nature, about the size of the palm of the hand, and was induced to try your Blood Mixture in consequence of two gentlemen in my neighbourhood having been cured of obstinate sore on the body. After taking two bottles I became much better, and continued it up to the tenth bottle, when I found the rheumatism had left me, and my arm was healed. I consider it a most valuable medicine.
